Note:

Where a person's particulars have been included in the Register:

Kindly note that the Criminal Law (Sexual Offences and Related Matters) Amendment Act, 2007 (Act No. 32 of 2007) ("the Act"), provides that a person whose particulars appear in the National Register for Sex Offenders ("the Register") may apply to have his or her particulars removed from the Register if he or she qualifies to submit such an application. Section 51 of the Act prescribes the circumstances under which a person may, in the prescribed manner, apply to have his or her particulars removed from the Register.

Take note that Regulation 20(2) of the Criminal Law (Sexual Offences and Related Matters) Regulations determines that if a person has made any false declaration in his or her application for the removal of his or her particulars from the Register, he or she commits an offence.

2. Where a person's particulars have not been included in the Register:

Take note that Form 9 "Certificate in respect of Particulars" is issued by the Registrar on a specific date. The Certificate only reflects the position in respect of the particulars of an individual on the date when the certificate was issued.

Take note that the particulars of a person will be included in the Register if the Registrar is notified, as provided for in section 50 of the Act, that the particular person has been convicted of a sexual offence against a child or a person who is mentally disabled, irrespective of whether such conviction took place before or after the date on the Form 9 Certificate.

Take note of the obligations reflected in sections 45, 47, 48 of the Act. Section 45 of the Act, for example, provides that an employer who—

- has in his or her employment any employee, may from the date of establishment of the Register, in the prescribed manner, apply to the Registrar for a prescribed certificate, stating whether or not the particulars of the employee are recorded in the Register; or
- from the date of establishment of the Register, intends employing an employee, must, in the prescribed manner, apply to the Registrar for a prescribed certificate, stating whether or not the particulars of the potential employee are recorded in the Register.
